Phi and Me: We're Back

www.phiandme.com.au

Phi and Me returns after a sellout season in 2011-13 at MICF and Adelaide Fringe 2015, they are BACK for a LIMITED season.

Phi is a second generation Vietnamese Australian. Phi appears to be a typical Vietnamese boy, who studies hard to make his mother proud, but deep down inside all Phi ever wanted in life was to be a superstar.

Phi and Me uses humor to highlight issues faced by second generation Vietnamese Australian families, including stereotyping and the adversities his mother faced as a refugee. From language barriers to getting through Australian customs, Phi shares funny stories about his dysfunctional relationship with his mum.
